

Andreas D. Koutselos
Professor of Physical Chemistry

Education

B.Sc. in Chemistry, National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, Greece, (1981).
Ph.D. in Physical Chemistry, Brown University, Providence RI. USA, (1986).
Post Doctoral studies at Stanford University, Stanford, CA. USA, (1987) and Boston College, Boston, MA. USA, (1988).
Visiting Scholar, Brown University RI. USA, (1990) and (1994), Van 't Hoff Institute, UvA, Holland (2006).

Research Field of Interest

Dynamics and transport of chemical systems through stochastic and kinetic theory calculations, as well as, through Molecular Dynamics simulations. Special systems consist of ions moving in fluids under the action of electromagnetic field and chemical reacting systems.

Teaching

Undergraduate: 514 Physical Chemistry II, in the past 613 Physical Chemistry III.

Graduate: Physical Chemistry, Statistical Mechanics.

Selected Papers

"Correlation and Prediction of Dispersion Coefficients for Isoelectronic Systems", A. D. Koutselos and E. A. Mason, J. Chem. Phys. 85, 2154, (1986).
